

Mary Lucero, et al.,	)	No. CIV 09-0363-PHX-DKD
	)
Plaintiffs,	)
	)
vs.	)	ORDER
	)
Jeff Ruby, et al.,	)
	)
Defendants.	)

§ 1983 Supervisor Liability Claim Against Defendant Fazz

The Court will deny Defendants' Motion with respect to the § 1983 claim against Defendant Fazz. As the police officer in charge of the entry team and the officer who ordered Defendant Ruby to breach the door, Defendant Fazz faces potential liability as an integral participant. Boyd v. Benton County, 374 F.3d 773, 780 (9th Cir. 2004).

<sup>1</sup>Plaintiff Joe Lucero was dismissed from this action on April 8, 2011.

1 § 1983 Supervisor Liability Claim Against Defendants Lekan, Raebel, and Robinson

2 Plaintiffs' Response to Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment states "[t]he liability
3 of Lekan and Robinson are addressed in Plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment and the 4 pleadings to be filed supporting that motion." Plaintiffs' Response (Doc. 115) at p. 12.
5 Plaintiffs' Motion for Partial Summary Judgment (Doc. 108), which the Court has denied, seeks 6 summary adjudication that Defendants have violated Plaintiff's Fourth Amendment rights by 7 wrongfully seizing her property. The Court has determined that Plaintiffs' Amended Complaint
8 does not assert a seizure claim. Thus it is questionable whether Plaintiff may properly oppose 9 Defendants' summary judgment motion on the issue of excessive force by remaining silent on 10 that issue in her response to Defendants' Motion and by instead relying upon her own summary 11 judgment motion which addresses liability on the entirely separate issue of wrongful seizure.
12 Notwithstanding this concern, the Court reviewed Plaintiffs' "motion for summary judgment 13 and the pleadings to be filed supporting that motion" to determine whether they contain any 14 basis to deny Defendants' Motion.

15 These filings, however, only address legal issues applicable to the unlawful seizure of 16 property claim. There is no mention of the customs and practices of the SWAT team or the 17 supervisors' alleged misconduct with respect to the excessive force claim. Thus, Plaintiff's 18 referral to her motion for partial summary judgment and "the pleadings to be filed supporting 19 that motion" is an empty promise. Moreover, there is nothing in this record that these 20 supervisors' prior failure to properly address issues of the use of excessive force bears a casual 21 connection to the alleged constitutional harm in this case. Connick v. Thompson, ___ U.S. ___, 22 ___ S.Ct. ___, 2011 WL 1119022 at *6-7 (U.S.S.C. March 29, 2011). As a district court 23 recently observed "the Ninth Circuit has found a supervisor's conduct sufficient to establish the 24 requisite casual link only when the supervisor engaged in at least some type of conduct before
25 the unconstitutional incident and the supervisor knew or should have known that his conduct 26 could cause the constitutional violation the plaintiff suffered." Jones v. County of Sacramento, 27 2010 WL 2843409 at *7 (E.D. Cal. July 20, 2010) (emphasis in original and citing Blankenhorn 28

1 v. City of Orange, 485 F.3d 463 (9th Cir. 2007), Larez v. City of Los Angeles, 946 F.2d 630 (9th
 2 Cir. 1991), Watkins v. City of Oakland, 145 F.3d 1087 (9th Cir. 1998). In McRorie v. Shimoda,
 3 795 F.2d 780 (9th Cir. 1986), the Circuit did reverse a Rule 12(b)(6) dismissal of an excessive
 4 force claim against supervisors noting that "[p]olicy or custom may be inferred if . . . the prison
 5 officials took no steps to reprimand or discharge the guards, or if they otherwise failed to admit
 6 the guards' conduct was in error." Id. at 784. But that case involved the obviously egregious
 7 allegation that a prison guard attempted to plunge a riot stick into plaintiff's anus during s strip
 8 search and it was a ruling addressing a motion to dismiss such that the record contained no facts
 9 regarding how prison officials responded to the guard's treatment of plaintiff. Id. The dictum
 10 in McRorie and its sole citation to a Fifth Circuit case are insufficient to overcome the state of 11 this Circuit's current law noted in Jones. This conclusion is supported by the Circuit's February 12 2011 decision in Starr v. Baca, 633 F.3d 1191 (9th Cir. 2011), which, in addition to rejecting
 13 Defendants' argument that Ashcroft v. Iqbal, ___ U.S. ___, 129 S.Ct. 1937 (2009), ended §
 14 1983 supervisory liability, allowed for "acquiescence" liability where the record contained 15 evidence of noncompliance with recommendations for safer jails after "years of monitoring".
 16 Starr at 1198.

17 § 1983 Municipal Liability Claim Against Defendant City of Yuma

18 Under Monell v. Dep't. of Soc. Servs., 436 U.S. 658 (1978), a city may be liable under 19 § 1983 if it executed or implemented a "policy statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision
 20 officially adopted and promulgated by that body's officers". Id. at 690 or "the city made a 21 deliberate or conscious choice to fail to train its employees adequately." Boyd at 784 22 (quotations omitted). The need for more or different training must be "so obvious, and the 23 inadequacy so likely to result in the violation of constitutional rights, that the policymakers of 24 the city can reasonably be said to have been deliberately indifferent to the need." City of 25 Canton, Ohio v. Harris, 489 U.S. 378, 390 (1989).

26 With regard to Plaintiff's claim of municipal liability she contends without citation to 27 authority that "[t]he acceptance of dangerous recklessness by the policymaker proves their 28

1 preexisting disposition and the policy of the municipality." (Doc. 115 at p. 13.) As set forth
2 in the preceding section, the Circuit authority is to the contrary. At best, such policy or practice
3 may be inferred by a jury but the record in this case contains no evidence of City or final policy
4 maker previous awareness or acquiescence such as existed with the multiple-year investigations
5 in Lazar, previous excessive force dog bites in Watkins, and the alleged acquiescence in the 6 officer's previous use of excessive force in Blankenhorn.

7 Plaintiffs' Response in Opposition to Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment does 8 not address Defendants' arguments against Plaintiff's failure to train claim and thus it may be 9 assumed that Plaintiff concedes this point. However, the Court's review of the record evidence
10 supports the dismissal of Plaintiff's failure to train claim. Plaintiff's own expert finds no fault 11 with Defendants' training regarding the use of the breaching shotgun. See Defendants'
12 Statement of Facts Nos. 125, 128 and 124 parts 4 and 5 to which Plaintiff has no objection.
13 (Doc. 116 at pp. 38-40.) To the extent that Plaintiff might contend that Ruby's conduct in this 14 case evidences a failure to train, a single incident cannot be the basis for a failure to train claim.
15 Blankenhorn at pp. 484-85.

16 Negligence Claims

17 Defendants' motion seeks dismissal of the negligence claims based upon the assertion 18 of state statutory immunity and a failure of proof. Fact issues to be resolved at trial preclude 19 summary adjudication in favor of Defendants Ruby and Fazz on these grounds. Moreover, the 20 City of Yuma faces potential liability for negligence under a respondeat superior theory. With 21 respect to the claims against Raebel, Lekan, and Robinson, Plaintiff's thin response to 22 Defendants' Motion (which quoted in its entirety states: "Plaintiff has established numerous 23 breaches of the standard of care, as outlined above and more fully in the report of Roger Clark."
24 Response at p. 13), is insufficient to obtain a result different than the Court's rulings on the 25 matters "outlined above." Plaintiff's Amended Complaint makes an additional separate 26 allegation against Defendant Raebel that he "breached the standard of care by failing to conduct 27 an adequate background investigation before the SWAT raid." Amended Complaint at ¶ 111.

1 Plaintiff has not responded to Defendants' record evidence that an investigation was conducted
2 other than with a general citation to her expert's report. Such general references do not comply
3 with our Local Rules which require contradicting statements of fact to cite to the specific place
4 in the record where admissible evidence of the fact issue may be found. Local Rules of Civil 5 Procedure 56.1(b) & (e). Nonetheless, the Court has found no evidence in the record that a 6 different investigation before the morning of the raid would have made any difference. The 7 record appears plain that the officers executing the search warrant were aware that Mrs. Lucero 8 and her husband lived in the home. Moreover, the report of Plaintiff's expert focuses on the 9 alleged failures to make appropriate inquiries during the raid itself. Raebel was not present 10 during the raid. Defendants' (unobjected) Statement of Fact 120.

11 Battery Claim

12 Defendants seek dismissal of the battery claim on the basis that a claim for battery
13 requires that the Defendant intended to cause a harmful or offensive contact with Plaintiff.
14 There is no evidence in this case that Sgt. Ruby intended a harmful or offensive contact with 15 Plaintiff. Plaintiff argues that the doctrine of transferred intent recognized in the Restatement 16 provides for such liability and cites a comment where defendant's intent toward a dog could be 17 transferred to the human ultimately harmed. The Court could find no comment or case 18 extending this theory to the facts presented here where there was an intent to damage an 19 inanimate object like a door. Such an intent cannot be "transferred" so as to constitute the 20 requisite intent for a battery.

21 Punitive Damages Claim

22 Defendants also seek dismissal of the § 1983 punitive damages claim. Under the Ninth 23 Circuit's model jury instructions, a jury is instructed:

24 You may award punitive damages only if you find that the defendant's conduct 25 that harmed the plaintiff was malicious, oppressive or in reckless disregard of the 26 plaintiff's rights. Conduct is malicious if it is accompanied by ill will, or spite, 27 or if it is for the purpose of injuring the plaintiff. Conduct is in reckless disregard 28 of the plaintiff's rights if, under the circumstances, it reflects complete indifference to the plaintiff's safety or rights, or if the defendant acts in the face of a perceived risk that its actions will violate the plaintiff's rights under federal

1 law. An act or omission is oppressive if the defendant injures or damages or 2 otherwise violates the rights of the plaintiff with unnecessary harshness or 3 severity, such as by the misuse or abuse of authority or power or by the taking 4 advantage of some weakness or disability or misfortune of the plaintiff.

5 Ninth Circuit Model Civil Jury Instructions, 5.5 PUNITIVE DAMAGES. The Court cannot say
6 that no jury could find reckless or callous indifference in this case. Smith v. Wade, 461 U.S. 30, 7 56 (1983). Defendants' motion to dismiss the § 1983 punitive damages claim will be denied.

8 Plaintiffs' Motion to Strike

9 Plaintiffs' Motion to Strike is DENIED as MOOT in light of the Court's other rulings.

10 Defendants' Motion to Exclude the Opinion of Roger Clark

11 Finally, at the oral argument the Court expressed its view that it was disinclined to grant 12 Defendants' Motion to Exclude the Opinions of Roger Clark. After further consideration, the 13 Court sees no reason to depart from its preliminary view: that it will not exclude Plaintiff's
14 expert but that it will not permit the expert to testify about matters for which his Report did not 15 provide fair notice to Defendants. Application of this disclosure standard must await objections
16 asserted in the Pretrial Order and during Plaintiff's trial examination of her expert.
17 Accordingly,

18 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED denying Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment with 19 respect to the § 1983 claims against Defendant Fazz (Doc. 106).

20 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED granting Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment
21 with respect to the § 1983 supervisor liability claims against Defendants Lekan, Raebel, and 22 Robinson (in both his individual and official capacities).

23 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED granting Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment
24 with respect to the § 1983 municipal liability claims against the City of Yuma.

25 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED granting in part and denying in part Defendants' Motion
26 for Summary Judgment with respect to the negligence claims against Defendants Ruby, Fazz, 27 Raebel, Lekan, Robinson and the City of Yuma. The negligence claims against Defendants 28 Raebel, Lekan, and Robinson are dismissed.

1       IT IS FURTHER ORDERED granting Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment
2 with respect to the battery claim.

3       IT IS FURTHER ORDERED denying Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment
4 seeking dismissal of the § 1983 punitive damages claim.

5       IT IS FURTHER ORDERED denying Plaintiffs' Motion to Strike (Doc. 115), as moot.

6       IT IS FURTHER ORDERED denying Defendants' Motion to Exclude the Opinion of 7 Roger Clark (Doc. 123).

8       DATED this 2nd day of May, 2011.

9
10

11 _____
12       David K. Duncan
13       United States Magistrate Judge
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28